To resolve the kinds of abuses I've lived under requires one simple change in our government. Any FISA order would be made public in 7 years of the time of its issue. This would make it unlikely that any order without true justification would be requested since one day it would be subject to review

As the bullcrap collapses - people ought remember one thing, Rob would throw each and every one of you under the bus if it would help him get away with it, so protecting someone who won't protect you is a way to pay for everything you've done

Hell, my father is such a jerk who believes misery loves company that he showed up with my uncle (a remaining family member with clean hands) and a tree, and tried to send me to the store (similar to sprinkler day) to implicate him... wouldn't even let a member of the family not be roped into his mistakes

Why does Ricks life become complicated?

Because his father and brother act as human shields to stuff like this:

My father calling me mentally ill the second I had proof of a crime he was involved in.... Speaks for itself

Rick Mark

If you're happy to allow things to happen to me and not assert mental illness, or addiction, for as long as me suffering profited, but do the second you're involvement is shown... then that is actually a crime itself

And remember, 13 years later, if I only have a "problem" when I'm showing their complicit nature and never before... are these people in any way making decisions in my interests?

And if you want to know how someone can access my home, and why the "blips" are three days, that's the amount of time the batteries for the locks can run without power...

Rick Mark

It wasn't their being "smart" helping Rob, it wasn't their "strength" to take anything from me, it was my pity for Brad for being too lazy, or selfish, to make it without his big brothers help... the one who needs to humble themselves is those who have yet to recognize they will only do well when I do well... that my protection will be restored when they show that they deserve it and reverse the lies

Rick Mark

So clear as I can be, I'm more then willing to let them for once face consequences for refusing to stop endangering their ENTIRE family, they no longer fall under the protection that I am afforded...

How my day went:

- * made a safety plan
- * slept
- * woke up to a meeting tomorrow morning
- * had an induced priapism
- * began interventions to resolve (alcohol soluble, assaulted with timex, d-amphetamine as a vasoconstrictor - the 30% levo is the useful part - 6 Sudafed often isn't enough to resolve this)

Rob doesn't reward loyalty in the end, he makes you culpable, he pays you to keep doing things to destroy yourself, and when your utility to him ends, everything you've done comes out, you can't blame him because how can you, and I can't legally forgive anything or contextualize post-mortem

Rick Mark

As someone who's been resuscitated- what possible reason is there to attempt to make me into debt, and keep me from fixing it... where that would become my parents problem

As people who want to not be talked about online, what purpose is there to encouraging the lack of control of my online accounts, and the allowance of anything that prevents sleep and causes anxiety on me

Until you own that your path to destruction is the steps you keep making for your undoing by believing they hurt me and save you, we have no progress to be made

Why anyone would do what will destroy them, with Rob's promise that he will not allow it to happen, then you will get what you've so insanely helped him create for you

Dads last chance to not end in poverty is here, hold Brad accountable or accept the result of not

Rick Mark

19h ·

He's said he will stop how many times, and they refuse to stop forgiving him and blaming me

Why would he do anything else until you actually do something to stop him from being (temporarily) rewarded for it

Be parents, stop him from ruining himself and everyone

All you have to do is say that the relationship between Brad and Rob exists to make it not beneficial to hurt me, yet Brad can't be hurt as that would be obvious retaliation

The reason we all collapsed and never again got anything is because she last time they told Brad to not blow up what I was doing, that he lied and went right too it again... they not only didn't punish him for lying and betrayal but rewarded him, let him keep gains, and blamed me for his actions

Now because once again, I've been screwed over by Brad, and my parents protected him, and I understand the deal and the protection offered, I invite the full wrath and destruction of those who would have provided protection, because if it need be those who undo any efforts they made for me and on behalf of my family are undone, then they deserve no amount of protection

All that was asked to save us all was a clear indicator that this won't repeat, his ill gotten gains to be given to the victim so at least he doesn't profit if we wanted it private, my parents to publically hold to account he's gaining from each of these - any of of those would make me move that meeting and give a chance

So after having to deal with a ransom demand - it seems taking the X5 key was added to the deal.

Things must be tiring for the better, currently feeling threatened to give up credibility makes it clear we have the leverage

Chappaqua is an Algonquin word. The translations disagree: shapequa, meaning "running water" or "boundary" or "place of separation" or "laurel swamp," depending on which linguistic tradition you consult. Another rendering says shah-pah-ka: "the rustling land," a place where you could only hear the wind moving through the leaves.

The hamlet sits in the town of New Castle, in northern
