And the absolute blow town, your shitting me is this...

Never asked me to do anything
Actively interfered in my dating life

Actually prevented me from moving in, but do t worry - he's the victim

See this is one of those moments where my wallet but my ID missing will naturally be used to attempt to create an optic, and that optic will require someone hurt to do so, but u can't yell any louder and my cowardice kin will instead play the odds

My father's inability and cowardice to retract a false and dangerous statement will be the path to rob framing me for harming others... god forbid the day come but his lying ass and ego are more important to him then his grandchildren

Well at least LLPD was decent in this interaction.
Hopefully the severity of Rob's history with firearm attribution and my missing ID struck a cord.

Wait, if the call had a non-visible party, that would mean that its participation in an assault since there was pre-planning

There's no way anyone would be believing that they have the ability to walk around my home and do as they please... and moms offer is more out of covering up the sale of my home without consent to appease Rob

I do wonder if the reshuffle was to ensure that there's no one who has any affinity for me to create an outcome... it was actually occurring before the beginning of the discussion
