I'm writing to verify a couple of things. The first is that you have mentioned on a handful of occasions that you suspect that your dad allowed access to your home while managing your sprinkler system fall of 2024. Not necessarily that he did the bad thing, but that he created an environment/situation where access could be allowed to the home and its security measures.

The second thing is to confirm that I took you to the ER the Sunday after Thanksgiving in 2024. I received an early morning call and came right over to get you. I saw that there was a medical grade syringe, the kind used to push solution through an IV. I also observed an injection sight on you. We spent the better part of the morning in the ER where you had a SA advocate present and completed a rape kit with Libery Lake Police.

Since these incidents you have substantially decreased your social circle to prevent further bad things from happening. These things all began occurring shortly before Alex was murdered and you began to worry for

And to boot, my father chose to try and also implicate my uncle - because he didn't even see why he shouldn't also be roped into my fathers poor decisions to blame me for the assaults he enabled and to make another also complicit

And nothing more dangerous to him then for example, me actually getting a call about a job, or a fair interview, and so it made it obvious that choice was taken even then, so anyone rewarding rape and assault can enjoy being made to be proponents thereof

If anyone wants to understand why things always "almost work out" it's because when I do the right thing and earn something, my brother and father are right there with a hand out to rob expecting to be paid to take it away from me

The idea of my father both begging Rob for money, while begging me to not hold him accountable for his actions is humiliating

Your dad and I are going to sell the rv tomorrow at a big loss. I have no idea what you're planning to do, but we would sell it to you, deliver and set it up for you wherever you want and then use house equity to pay for it plus an allowance out of house equity till it's sold. Let me know if you want to talk about it.

Been more concerned with a wallet that walked off at 2:30 am - and the related, let me think it through. My camper title also disappeared from the home a few weeks back (though

It's a shame that even though I've explained to family that they're refusal to give me even the space for my multi-day-reset-a-thon to regain control of my Apple devices from RobMarks Apple internal access, and the resulting spew of messages and posts that causes, is too ,icy to ask of them

Now that my family has prioritized themselves and expected I had an intimate ability to be on the ass end of priorities, and that I've been isolated without ability to get rest / avoid harassment - or social belonging....

The abuse of the blackball system to attempt to drive me to suicide is going to be the silent aspect of being pushed out of my industry, even as I had just gotten the small amount of grip required by being free of an AppleInsider, thus the blitz and timing

But we really got to get my little brother, who's insane selfishness, and continuous relationship with Rob Mark, his gas and oil sweetheart deals, and the fact he wanted a runway for Rob to fly in, the trips to telluride... being the problem that moved here to give Rob the ability to roam about my ho,drown with his cover,is what will destroy every member of my family whom I dealy love

But the insanely selfish idea that one member of my family creating a dangerous narrative I have to be above reproach and isolated to prevent being used, prevents any of the rest of them from providing that space, which I can use to protect us all, is insane

I'm disgusted that he's used his children as a bargaining chip and shield, that he moved here to push me away from my parents (which was the minimal support network I needed - only needed two people) and decided that my incredible chances I had to be back in my industry were his to sell off

Rick Mark

18h · 🌐

My brother made his living by giving Rob the access and cover to harass, torture, and discredit me... he sold my actual career and talent for penny's in the dollar and, despite it all, I chose to protect him from the consequences of his actions routinely - he took my iPad and was willing to give every one of my parents bank accounts to Rob, but was foolish enough to do so from his IP in Post Falls, yet I still protected him.... But he's now expecting to continue building a narrative that I've destroyed my family in numerous ways, expects me to take the fall, and some windfall for loyalty to Rob

The things he expected me to do to ransom from danger he was always creating were not joy, or anything desired, but how could one not do anything (even if awful - to gain enough time for my parents to stop enabling Brads choices)

Rick Mark

While I've had it rough, my father choosing to prioritize him I'm sure was out of thinking he was doing the right thing for his grandchildren, and I'm sure that the amount of lies that they told my mother destroyed the most cherished relationship I had, that the path back for us was always for them to not destroy my ability to keep us safe with my reputation, the ego and arrogance of believing that my contributions to the world can't be seen as more important then their reputations (again, used at times to justify destroying mine) isn't so selfish and pointless

I do wish my brother had made the choice years ago to not continue to try to get ahead in life by selling access to us all, which has been the path that led to all the sorrow... we wouldn't have been in the jaws if he didn't keep inviting that monster back

This is why the success of seeing friends in SLC began to pan out, his dumb ass not selling me out... but it's unfair to expect a few of my gay friends to be more caring and protective then those of my own family who had far more to loose in ruining me

But no matter how good the situation is work to repair my life would become, he would have a hand out, sell the safety of falling asleep in my home, and then basically attempt to make it out to be a situation where I'm some kind of mentally ill, drug addict loser, all so that Rob could do things like frame me for just about any narrative he wanted to craft
